

Photo 1 taken at Island Bar, Salmon River, during Dredge-In. In the comment, you'll note that Mr. Ratley indicated that he was wearing a 7 mm wetsuit, indicating that he was actively dredging.

Photo #2 shows one of the signs that the EPA and others had posted, that were taken down.

Here is a shot down stream. Weather was hot. 7 mm suit was a little overkill. 3 mm would have been more comfortable.

Dan Staples Nice scene. If I had a wet suit, I'd wear it to church. I like the church of the river best

Calisdad J Hobbes Did they have permission to use NOAA's logo? I always thought NOAA relied on sound science.
